PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Jason Linklater, President

It has been almost ten months since I began my role as MAHCP President. I came to office with very clear objectives, with the top priority of achieving a contract for MAHCP members at central table. The newly ratified agreement expires in 2024, so my primary focus remains on the next round of negotiations while ensuring that the new contracts are completed (including market/standardization funds) and fully implemented as quickly as possible.

Prior to occupying this office, I knew there were changes needed at MAHCP, difficult organizational changes, but change required to become recognized and achieve success for our members. MAHCP had to engage the best and brightest to lead; not just for the long term, but also to address concurrent central table contract negotiations. Our 2022-23 MAHCP team of table officers formed last October (Wayne Chacun, Tanya Burnside, Matt Hollingshead, and me) set to work immediately.

We achieved our goal by hiring our new Executive Director & Lead Negotiator, Keely Richmond, in February 2023, followed by Kevin MacFarlane who filled the newly created position of Director of Administration & Finance. The experience, expertise, and leadership these two individuals bring to MAHCP will continue to pay dividends in the years ahead.

Our shared vision to grow MAHCP into a leader is what drives us all. We know this vision must translate into contracts and member services that meaningfully address our members' needs. With the new MAHCP team in place, we have a group that works well together and understands our roles and shares common vision. I believe that, going forward, our members will see the difference and will achieve greater recognition and success as a result.

The work the Central Table Bargaining Committee took on during this round of bargaining was difficult and painstaking not just because of the number of contracts being compressed (over 50 into 3), but also resulting from the barriers presented by a provincial government that did not want to address or compensate Allied Health Professionals appropriately. They neglected us for years, leaving us understaffed, underpaid, and driving us to unprecedented anger and frustration.

MAHCP leveraged media, with over 100 web and print stories in the last year alone, along with numerous TV and radio interviews. A targeted advertising campaign also helped raise Allied Health's profile and amplify our message to Manitobans through billboards,

Solidarity is often forged in such trying times. We must maintain it to achieve greater recognition, better compensation, increased supports and improved working conditions from our government and our employers.

MAHCP is not done fighting for those goals. Our membership must stay engaged so that we will succeed. This contract is not the end of an effort, but the very start.

radio and TV ads and paid social media content. Our members joined in the fight, with over 20 member lobbyists trained to engage directly with government MLAs; and thousands of members signing petitions, attending informational pickets, rallying at the Manitoba Legislative Building, sharing stories on social media and talking to friends, family and neighbours.

The strike vote was in many ways the culmination of our shared anger, with over 99% in favor and an 88% turnout of our members. That strong, resounding result is only possible with an engaged membership. It was noted not only by the government and employers, but also by other unions across the country.

The MAHCP staff, Bargaining Committee, Executive Council, Member Advocates, and all members have my heartfelt thanks for the efforts everyone put into the negotiation process.

Solidarity is often forged in such trying times. We must maintain it to achieve greater recognition, better compensation, increased supports and improved working conditions from our government and our employers. MAHCP is not done fighting for those goals. Our membership must stay engaged so that we will succeed. This contract is not the end of an effort, but the very start.

Frequent communication will continue to keep members informed into the next round of bargaining. In recent months, thousands of members logged in multiple times to the member portal, and we will continue to utilize and build this new communications channel going forward. The portal is far more involved than just intermittent informational updates, is easy to access and provides what you need to know.

To strengthen our presence in the larger community, MAHCP has also pursued relationships that will benefit our members. We are now a component of NUPGE (National Union of Public and General Employees) as well as a member of the CLC (Canadian Labour Congress). The benefits of these relationships were clearly illustrated during bargaining, both in terms of financial backing for our potential strike, and for the invaluable resources and information-sharing that other component unions from across Canada, as well as NUPGE and CLC staff and leadership, provided.

The strong and growing solidarity among Manitoba's health-care unions is represented most visibly by our joint participation in the MCHCU (Manitoba Council of Health Care Unions). MCHCU will be critical as we head into 2024 when all current health-care contracts will expire simultaneously. MAHCP will not allow another delay in central table bargaining in 2024. Our strategic initiatives toward this next contract are already underway; several of the required pieces were implemented into this most current contract in preparation.

As I write, Manitoba is amid a provincial election where health care is the central issue. We have already seen significant election commitments made to bolster specific Allied Health professions in a way that we haven't experienced in past election cycles. In other words, political parties seem to be taking note of our strength and influence. They are recognizing that Allied Health is not only essential to health care, but that our issues can be politically potent as well. The next government, of whatever political stripe, will be forced to reckon with a strong, united Allied Health sector.

A new course in Health Care must be charted and MAHCP will be a central figure in that process.

In solidarity,

Jason Linklater

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Keely Richmond, Executive Director

I would like my first message as Executive Director to be one of thanks and appreciation to our President, Table Officers, Executive Council, MAHCP Staff and of course MAHCP members. I am honoured to join this team and be part of MAHCP's ongoing initiatives to support our incredibly important membership. I am confident MAHCP will be a difference maker in Manitoba health care now and into the future.

The past year has been incredibly tumultuous for many members. MAHCP has weathered the storm and lasting effects of COVID. We have faced enormous economic change with substantial increases to the cost of living, while most members' wages were frozen since 2018. We continue to exist in a complex health-care staffing crisis that has led to increasingly untenable working conditions. This is exacerbated by increased violence in the workplace and a government who has done little to help. MAHCP has our work laid out for us.

Last AGM we noted the Provincial fall election was coming and we wanted our Central Table Contract concluded. Well we succeeded. It was arguably the most complex round of health-care negotiations Manitoba has ever seen. We consolidated over 50 Collective agreements into 3 (one for each Employers Organization we represent). We asked a lot of our Central Table Bargaining Committee and membership in a short period of time. Learning new technologies for communication and voting, attending townhall meetings, information pickets, a call for a strike vote, narrowly averting a strike this past June, and finally, a ratification vote in mid July.

Members demonstrated tremendous solidarity, and we should be proud as many of our sister health care unions across Canada watched our strike vote and member engagement with envy. We learned many lessons and have emerged from the past year stronger than ever. We are now deep into operationalizing our new contract with central table bargaining set to begin again next year. The next round will be a historic moment with many health-care contracts (MNU, MGEU and CUPE) ending at the same time.

From an Operations lens we currently have a staff of 27 which includes:

- thirteen Labour Relations Officers,
- one Legal Counsel,
- one Articling student,
- one Communications Officer,

- six Administrative Staff,
- one Executive Liaison to the President and
- four Management staff:
 - » the Administrative Manager, who oversees administrative staff,
 - » the Manager of Communications and Outreach, who provides oversight and strategic direction on communications and membership matters,
 - » the Director of Administration and Finance who provides oversight and direction on all our financial obligations and costings,
 - » the Executive Director who oversees all management and their reports.

In my short tenure, I can attest to how dedicated our staff are to continuously serving our diverse membership. MAHCP staff are committed to professional development and constantly invest in being on the cusp of progressive labour relations advocacy. Work is underway to review our experiences as a staff this past year and apply those lessons to our future strategy for bargaining and member service.

Without the commitment and dedication of this team supporting members over the last year we would not have been as successful during this historic round of negotiations. Thank you.

In solidarity,

Keely Richmond

VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Tanya Burnside, MAHCP Vice-President

As Vice-President, I chaired the Governance and Oversight Committees this year. You will find the reports in the AGM booklet that outline the work these committees did this term. I also sat on the following committees: Finance, Central Table Bargaining and Strike Readiness Committees.

Solidarity has been on full display this term; the attendance at the membership meetings I attended throughout the term has been some of the highest numbers I have seen. These meetings saw members share their stories not just to their elected MAHCP officials and staff but with one another, with community leaders and MLAs. These stories made their way to the Manitoba Legislature when meeting with political parties; your voices were heard as many of the stories were shared on the legislature floor asking this government to be accountable for the chaos they have created within health care.

Central Table bargaining was a focus for this organization this term as after five plus years waiting it was time for Allied Health to take center stage. Members gave the Central Table Bargaining Committee a 99% strike mandate. This was unprecedented in our history and especially with almost 90% of the membership voting it sent a strong message to the government and those bargaining on behalf of our employers.

As April and May came, members picked up signs and joined the many informational pickets across the province and then at the rally during Allied Health Professionals Recognition Week in May at the Legislative Building.

In May we entered mediation that helped move both sides along, but the Bargaining Committee still wasn't seeing significant progress and a strike deadline was set; this looming threat gave us the leverage we needed to get more money and postpone the strike. The Committee continued to push the employers' side until a tentative agreement was reached in late June. Our ratification town halls also had great engagement and we thank all those members who attended and voted.

As a member of the Central Table Bargaining Committee, I would like to thank my fellow committee members for their work and commitment; which included early starts, and many late nights. To the staff who assisted the committee – Lead LRO Cheryl, LROs Rebecca and Cory, our administrative staff Cathy and Candice, and Lead Negotiator Keely – thank you all for the work and expertise you provided us throughout this process.

As we head into the next term, we are preparing to head back to the table as the agreements expire in March. There is much work to be done coming out of this last round of bargaining; all the committees will be starting to meet and get going on their vital work. I know during the ratification town halls many members expressed concern that allied health bargaining could once again be delayed. Our goal and commitment is to be ready to go and hold the government and our employers accountable to the promises made at the table. They heard the message loud and clear from our side of the table that Allied health will not allow delays in the next round of bargaining.

Last year I ended my report with the following; "MAHCP continues to stand with purpose and resolve. It's in our solidarity and unity that we find our strength and success. No matter what changes, or challenges we face in the future, I truly believe as one strong voice we can accomplish anything."

I believe this term saw achievements that MAHCP will continue to build upon and bring allied health professionals to the forefront when health care is mentioned in this province. There is no health care without allied health!

It continues to be an honour to serve as a member of the Executive Council as your Vice-President. I look forward to serving the membership to the best of my ability.

In solidarity,

Tanya Burnside
MAHCP Vice-President

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT

Chair: Matthew Hollingshead, Treasurer

Committee Members: Jason Linklater, Tanya Burnside, Wayne Chacun, Shelley Kowalchuk, Arlene Boychuk

Allied health professionals are experiencing mounting pressure, tasked with increasing workloads despite operating with fewer resources and support as the government stumbles to maintain the provincial health system.

Yet, allied health continues showing up for Manitobans every day. Members deserve a union that does the same for them. At MAHCP, we work hard to ensure we exceed that goal.

A determined negotiating team, backed by an engaged membership and a well-funded, strategically-timed campaign, resulted in significant gains at the central bargaining table. It is important to note these achievements indirectly benefit local tables as well.

Our “Fix the Allied Health Staffing Crisis” marketing campaign had extensive reach and undoubtedly amassed pressure on the government to deliver a fair deal. The costs associated with this campaign were paid from the reserve fund, and the MAHCP will recoup these costs through normal dues collected on members’ retroactive pay.

Last year, I reported that we completed phase two of the operational review conducted in 2021. I am pleased to say we are on track to conclude the third and final phase of the review recommendations. Most notably, we have hired a Director of Administration and Finance, a newly created position, to oversee day-to-day financial operations, advise on large-scale financial strategy, and identify and implement operational efficiencies.

The Finance Committee remains committed to strengthening the organization’s financial well-being by continually improving financial processes. We plan to capitalize on our strong financial position in the upcoming year by strategically investing a portion of the defense fund. This initiative will bolster our ability to safeguard our union and our members for the future.

I extend my gratitude to all elected members and staff on the Committee, whose efforts have been instrumental in the milestones we have achieved this past year.

In solidarity,

Matthew Hollingshead
MAHCP Treasurer

MEMBER ENGAGEMENT COMMITTEE REPORT

Chair: Wayne Chacun, MAHCP Secretary

Committee Members: Kevin Chalus, Lesa Nordick, Leann Oakley, Shelagh Parken, Karen Roth, Kirk Seniuk

This past year saw MAHCP members having unprecedented engagement with their union. Going without a collective agreement for over five (and in some cases over six) years will do that. You made sure that the Association had your emails, you read updates, signed and shared petitions, educated the public at info pickets and let government know our worth and fury during the rally at the Legislature. Thousands of you attended the strike vote town halls and the ratification town halls. All of this helped strengthen our union as it never has been before.

Your Member Engagement Committee focused on informing and educating members, promoting the image of the union in the public's eye, and adding value to being a member of MAHCP. In February, we sent out information reminding members of their workplace EAP plan while doing a wellness calendar event. We reminded members about getting their Health Plan receipts in by the deadline, as it makes no sense having these benefits if people don't use them to their fullest extent.

To aid in bargaining, the Committee worked with MAHCP communications staff and a representative from the Canadian Labour Congress to recruit and train MAHCP members to lobby government MLAs. Member lobbying helped put pressure on government to free up appropriate money for central table bargaining. The Committee helped with preparation and participated in the Rally at the Legislature on May 15. It was great getting together with members the day before to make protest signs and talk about workplace issues. As is tradition, we were in attendance at the Winnipeg Pride parade. The Committee also focused on enhancing the MAHCP savings program – an added benefit to being a member of MAHCP.

We encourage you to log into the Member Portal to see what businesses offer discounts to MAHCP members.

Part of the Member Engagement Committee's duties includes awarding scholarships to children of our members, to people entering an allied health field of study and to members themselves. The recipients of the 12 MAHCP student scholarships, the three Monique Wally Scholarships and the three Continuing Education scholarships are listed in this report. We encourage members to also apply for the professional development fund for small courses and programs.

Moving forward, we want to build on the interest and engagement members have shown this past year. We hope to assist in planning union-related education opportunities to help Member Advocates in their duties. If this past year has taught us anything, it is that our strength is increased when we all engage in our union.

In solidarity,

Wayne Chacun,
MAHCP Secretary

OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE REPORT

Chair: Tanya Burnside, Vice President

Committee members: Jana-Leigh Povey, Shelagh Parken and Arlene Boychuk

As Vice-President, I chair the Oversight Committee. As directed under our MAHCP Constitution, the Executive Council charges the Oversight Committee with the responsibility to complete the specific goals and directions of the Executive Council. These goals and directives can be in the form of governance review, or addressing performance reviews of officers of the Council when complaints have been submitted. As the chair of this committee, I am responsible for scheduling and keeping order of committee meetings.

This committee met over the term to discuss and review relevant policies, procedures, and position descriptions. An internal debriefing of bargaining is being conducted as per policy and we look forward to hearing the feedback so that any improvements in policy and procedure can be incorporated prior to the next round of negotiations.

The work the committee performs requires an open mind, attention to detail and a strong understanding of the governance of MAHCP. As Chair, I would like to thank each of the committee members for their work this term.

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR 2023 SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS!

GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE REPORT

Chair: Tanya Burnside, Vice-President

Committee Members: Jana-Leigh Povey, Shayleen Goretzki, Jasmine Masse, Margrét Thomas

As your Vice-President, I chair the Governance Committee. As Chair of the committee, I ensure meetings are scheduled and business is conducted in accordance with MAHCP's Mission Statement, Constitution and Executive Council.

When reviewing and making recommendations on the governance of MAHCP, the committee reviews our internal policies and processes to ensure they meet or exceed the needs of the organization. This review can include policy and procedure reviews and recommendations to amend, abolish or create new policies or procedures. This is an ongoing process to ensure that MAHCP is continuing to meet or exceed the expectations of its members as directed under the Constitution and by Executive Council.

The committee was thrilled to see the member portal used to support the bargaining process this spring and summer. The goal of the portal was to create a hub for members to access valuable information not necessarily suitable for the general public, including bargaining updates, governance policies, committee terms of references and MAHCP position descriptions. Thousands of members have accessed the portal since its launch, with tens of thousands of page views this summer alone. The Committee will continue to add content to the portal and work with our communications staff to ensure all content is kept up to date.

The Committee has resolutions to present at this year's AGM (Annual General Meeting). We would like to thank our parliamentarian for reviewing these resolutions this year to ensure they are compliant with Robert's Rules and for giving us guidance in the presentation for this year. The resolutions being presented can be located on pages 20-22 of this booklet.

As Chair, I would like to thank each of the committee members for all their hard work this term. I look forward to seeing everyone at this year's AGM.

HEB TRUSTEE REPORT

Birgit Molinski, Health Employment Benefits (HEB) Plan Trustee Labour Relations Officer

It has been a calmer year for the trustees and the plans. Hopefully, with the pandemic behind us, life can return to a more normal state. Despite all the upheavals in the global financial markets, the pension plan is in a well-funded position.

The HEB Vision 2020 project has encountered some significant issues. The task of building an entirely new IT system has proven to be much more challenging than anyone had predicted. The go-live date is now expected to be mid-2024. However, it is anticipated that the transformation will provide superior service to plan members and to the employers.

A sub-committee of the board has been working on the redesign of the plan healthcare benefits. Communication has gone out to the unions and the employers, and the plan is waiting for the parties to advise on any further decisions.

I would encourage our members to read the 2022 Report to Members which is mailed out by HEB in early summer every year. It contains valuable and detailed information about the plans.

As always, it has been a privilege to serve on the HEB boards along with the dedicated team of trustees and plan staff.

in Solidarity,

Birgit Molinski
MAHCP Labour Relations Officer

Resolution #2 | Article: 1605

CURRENT LANGUAGE

1605 Appeal Process for Disciplinary Actions

- a. The respondent(s) may appeal the decision of the Oversight Committee to the Executive Council by sending a written letter of appeal to the Executive Council within thirty (30) days of documented receipt of the decision of the Oversight Committee.
- b. On receiving an appeal of a disciplinary decision, the Executive Council shall review all the evidence presented during the proceedings and convene a special Executive Council meeting to hear the respondent's presentation as to the basis of the appeal. This meeting should occur within forty-five (45) days.
- c. The disciplinary action will be confirmed, modified, or reversed by a secret ballot vote of the Executive Council members, excluding those Council members who constitute the Oversight Committee. The decision of the Oversight Committee may be modified by a simple vote but may be reversed only with two thirds (2/3) vote.
- d. A vote on an appeal of disciplinary action by the Executive Council is final and binding.
